

This is a great way of learning about leaves and their structure, not only that it's an ideal way to learn about symmetry in nature. To have a go at this all you need is some modelling clay, a rolling pin and a handful of leaves to press. Simply roll out the clay, then place the leaves on top and roll again.

